SCHEDULE “A” (Description of services to be performed)

General:

The Consultant shall research, review, design, and deliver Domestic Violence awareness training curriculum that can be used in the delivery of a domestic violence training program for all LAO employees. The purpose of the training program is to ensure that all LAO employees have an understanding of the impact of domestic violence and strengthen their skills when working with domestic violence clients and stakeholders in both English and French. The expectations are that all employees who take the DV awareness training program developed by the Consultant will be able to understand cross-cultural communication, awareness, competency, and an understanding of the experiences of the Canadian justice system from the perspective of clients who experience domestic violence.

In consultation with LAO, the Consultant will design a customized Domestic Violence awareness training curriculum in two different formats:

- i. The first format will be a one (1) day in-person DV awareness introduction course that will be instructor led and participatory
- ii. The second aspect of the curriculum will be an online course that will supplement, expand, and apply the information presented during the in-person training course. The online component will allow participants to learn how to communicate and work effectively with domestic violence clients.

Additionally, the Consultant will deliver one (1) in-person training session in order to pilot the curriculum in a location agreeable to both the Consultant and LAO. An evaluation by the Consultant will take place after the first in-person session. Based on the outcome of the evaluation the Consultant will make the relevant changes to the curriculum and/or materials and will submit them to LAO. All finalized training materials will become the property of LAO.

Deliverables:

1. Design and development of an in-person domestic violence awareness training curriculum that can be delivered to its employees throughout Ontario on a continuing basis
2. Design and development of an on-line domestic violence awareness training curriculum

3. Pilot of one (1) in-person domestic violence awareness training session
4. Program evaluation strategy, including evaluation and review of the in-person pilot session
5. Provide updated training and resource materials to LAO that are based on the evaluation and review
6. Province wide training of all LAO staff

The program deliverables will be accomplished in the following stages:

1. Start-up and Review

- Initial design and consultation planning sessions between the Consultant with LAO
- Review by the Consultant of LAO documentation from previous domestic violence training sessions

2. Design and Development

- Design and development of the in-person and online training materials by the Consultant in consultation with LAO
- Inclusion of the online or in-person curriculum of relevant tools and materials previously developed by the Consultant in consultation with LAO. Intellectual property rights to previously developed materials will be retained by the Consultant.
- The following topics will be included in the design of the in-person and online training materials:
 - Signs a person may be experiencing domestic violence
 - Effective communication with clients who experience domestic violence
 - Sources and dynamics of domestic violence (e.g., forms of abuse, power and control issues, reasons women don't leave abusers)
 - Domestic violence clients in the justice system
 - How domestic violence relates to other forms of oppression, and affects persons with diverse needs (e.g., elderly, Francophone, Indigenous, immigrant, disabled, rural)
 - Impact of divorce/separation on domestic violence
 - Experiences of domestic violence clients
 - Stereotypes, misrepresentation, cultural appropriation and appropriateness

- Current and future trends and challenges of domestic violence clients
 - Identifying potential opportunities for improving organizational practices in the future for clients who experience domestic violence
 - role and impact of FCSW and professional advocates when working with DV clients
- Resource materials, such as handouts, PowerPoint slides, articles, and guide books will be designed and developed by the Consultant and will contain a wide range of information taught during the in-person and online sessions, and will include resources and recommended readings

3. Training Sessions

The in-person and online training sessions will be designed and developed by the Consultant to meet these deliverables:

- Be tailored to present legal issues impacting clients experiencing domestic violence
- Heighten participants' awareness of domestic violence issues generally
- Highlight the diversity of clients experiencing domestic violence in communities across Ontario
- Address cultural sensitivity and how to effectively provide services to domestic violence clients

Additionally, in developing the in-person and online training the Consultant will:

- Include practice tips and client service tips including providing resource materials that will enable legal aid service providers to refer women to local agencies and services that can assist them to escape situations of violence
- Reflect LAO's mandate of providing quality legal aid services to low-income domestic violence clients in both English and French
- Reinforce certain LAO policies as will be determined and communicated to the consultant prior to the delivery of the workshops

In-Person Curriculum:

In consultation with LAO, the Consultant will develop and pilot the delivery of a culturally appropriate and sensitive, instructor led and participatory one-day Domestic Violence Awareness introduction training curriculum. Also in consultation with LAO, the Consultant will produce instructors' presentation material and participants' material to compliment the one-day in-person session.

The in-person training curriculum will be designed to be interactive, utilize at least one visual aid, be developed in a manner to avoid duplication of information, and allow for a question and answer period. All information handouts, including the background document of each presentation including trainer notes, and any other supplementary handouts, will be provided electronically in a format that is agreeable to LAO. A short biography of the presenter(s), shall be provided with handouts. Following the delivery of the first session, necessary adjustments, if any, are to be made to handouts, background documents and presentations, and be resubmitted to LAO electronically.

Online Training Curriculum:

In consultation with LAO, the Consultant will develop and design Domestic Violence online awareness training curriculum. The on-line curriculum shall provide enough content to fill a 30 minute to 45 minute online session.

The online training materials will include readings and assignments that expand upon the topics listed above and will apply the concepts and content delivered during the in-person session. These will be identified in consultation with LAO.

The Consultant also agree to make themselves available by email for a period of up to three (3) months after the online training session launches in order to answer any questions that participants may have.

4. Pilot

Implicit in its design, the content of the in-person Domestic Violence awareness curriculum will be first piloted, refined and consistently delivered by the Consultant, specifically trainer [REDACTED]. All of the presenters will design and deliver PowerPoint presentations and the pilot (and any subsequent) session will be facilitated by one of the presenters. The Consultant will ensure the presentation includes local VAW community sector/agencies in this session.

5. Evaluation and Review

The pilot session will be evaluated using an evaluation tool to be distributed to and completed by all participants. The tool will be developed by the Consultant in partnership with LAO.

It is anticipated that this will include:

- anonymous paper and electronic form to evaluate presenters and course-content;
- a follow-up focus group evaluation discussion with 3-5 attendees
- discussions between the Consultant and LAO on the evaluation results and proposed improvements/modifications to the course product.

In addition, interim follow-up evaluations with a small sample of previous participants will be conducted by the Consultant no later than two (2) months after the project begins. From these evaluations, the Consultant will be able to gather the necessary information to complete an extensive and comprehensive progress report which will be compiled by the Consultant and delivered to LAO.

Once changes are identified the Consultant will update the curriculum and materials and provide them to LAO.
